7:00pm Unfurling The World: The Voyages of Irving and Electa Johnson, 77-minute film, hosted by Steve White, President, Mystic Seaport. (Shown at Crowne Plaza Hotel, Salon A)

Monday, April 13, 2015 (all activities at Museum unless indicated)

7:30 – 8:45am Check in and Breakfast

8:45 – 9:00am Welcome and Announcements – Dave Pearson, CAMM President

9:00 – 10:00am “Overcoming Disaster: Rebuilding the Maritime and Seafood Museum after Hurricane Katrina”

In 2005, Hurricane Katrina devastated the Maritime and Seafood Industry Museum in Biloxi, Mississippi, washing away artifacts and leaving only a portion of the building intact. This session will document the rebuilding of the Museum and the establishment of a new collection featuring the schooner Nydia.

Chair: Daria Pizzetta, Partner, H3 Hardy Collaboration Architecture

Panelists: Ariel Fausto, Partner, H3 Hardy Collaboration Architecture and Robin Krohn-David, Executive Director, Maritime & Seafood Industry Museum

10:00 – 11:00am “Show me the Money: New Exhibits and Their Impact”

The National Museum of the Great Lakes opened in April, 2014. Executive Director Chris Gillcrisp will discuss the impact of a new facility in categories such as membership, annual fund campaigns, capital campaigns, and special event fundraising.

Presenter: Chris Gillcrist, Executive Director, National Maritime Museum of the Great Lakes & Great Lakes Historical Society, Toledo Ohio

11:00 – 11:15am Break

11:15am – 12:15pm “Kalmar Nyckel: A 17th-Century Ship with a 21st-Century Mission and a New Maritime Center”

Kalmar Nyckel is the full-scale and faithful re-creation of Peter Minuit’s original flagship that founded the colony of New Sweden on the Delaware River. With the opening of the new Copeland Maritime Center, the Kalmar Nyckel Foundation is able to offer a year-round destination and education center. This session will explain how the Kalmar Nyckel is being transformed into a “Tall Ship with a Broad Reach”.

Presenter: Samuel W. Heed, Senior Historian and Director of Education, Kalmar Nyckel Foundation, Wilmington, Delaware

12:15 – 1:30pm Lunch (served at the Museum)

1:30 – 3:00pm “Charles W. Morgan 38th Voyage: Restoration and Collaboration”

The 38th Voyage of the whaling bark Charles W. Morgan was a success largely due to the tremendous collaboration between museums, marine science organizations, municipal governments, port authorities, and educational institutions. Additionally, the voyage pulled together a number of institutions as a result of the whaleboat project and the 38th Voyager program. The panel will detail how the partnerships worked, the commitments that each made to the Voyage, and how critical effective collaboration was to the overall success of the Voyage.

Chair: Steve White, President, Mystic Seaport, Mystic Connecticut

Panelists: Dana Hewson, Vice President for Watercraft Preservation and Programs, Mystic Seaport; James Russell, President, New Bedford Whaling Museum, New Bedford Massachusetts; Kurt Voss, 38th Voyage Marine Ops Manager and independent consultant; Robert Schwemmer, West Coast Region Maritime Heritage Coordinator, NOAA

3:15 – 4:15pm “Maritime Museums in the 21st Century”

What does it mean to be a maritime museum in the 21st century? How are the changing needs and expectations of diverse audiences affecting the ways in which maritime museums fulfill our programmatic and curatorial missions? Wisconsin Maritime Museum addresses these issues via a case study bridging three legitimate but often competing parts of its mission: the submarine USS Cobia, Great Lakes maritime history, and Great Lakes environmental education.

Presenter: Rolf E. Johnson, Chief Executive Officer, Wisconsin Maritime Museum, Manitowoc, Wisconsin.
